

Building a Legacy

Directions

Think about friends, classmates, family, or others you spend time with:

- When they are talked about...what do people say?
- How does it make you feel?

Begin now to "Build a Legacy." Help influence what others say. If you move to a new school or go on to college, join a new social club or professional organization, enter the military, or make some other change in your living environment, how do you want to be remembered?

- "She really cared about her friends."
- "He could be counted on if you needed help."
- "She always included you when making an important decision."
- "He didn't belittle you if your skills weren't as good or he didn't agree with your opinion."

How others remember you...this will be your LEGACY.

Write down your desired legacy. Make a plan to meet your own expectations, keep it handy and check it now and then to see if you are staying on track. If not, make corrections. You may want to change your legacy if your life circumstances change.

It is your legacy to choose and your decision to make.